HAPPINESS IS . . .

No one can pursue happiness and catch it. Happiness grows out of harmonious relationships with others, relationships based on attitudes of understanding, kindness, respect, unselfishness, and self-improvement.

Happiness has a different meaning for each person. Teachers seek happiness by guiding young people, by helping students face an uncertain future, and by firing young minds. Students find happiness in the realization that they are preparing themselves for life in their exploration of unknown areas of knowledge. One gains happiness by participation in activities; youth develop maturity through leadership, responsibility, co-operation, and obedience. Special events and awards bring happiness to deserving students.

Everyone seeks happiness. The search is a life-long but fulfilling one. Happiness is a sudden discovery in a little corner of life. Happiness is a persistent gnawing and urge to drive onward. Most of all, happiness depends on what happens inside of you; it is measured by the spirit in which you meet the problems of life in an ever-changing world.

Because They Realize That They Will Soon Be Separated.

The ring, cap, and diploma symbolize the completion of twelve important years. A valuable education has been obtained, and lasting friendships have been created. While ideas of religion and world affairs were being formed, characters were being built. With the completion of twelve years, the individual leaves a world of dependency and enter a world where he must assume adult responsibilities.

ALMA MATER

1. O Madison, we honor thee,
And praise thy name forever.
And nothing on this earth below,
Can our love for you disserve.

Chorus

Alma Mater, Madison
Hail O Hail to thee!
Alma Mater, Madison
Hail O Hail to thee!

2. Loyal to thee we'll always be,
If we be far or near.
You give us strength to go ahead,
And each task to persevere. (Chorus)

3. O Mother dear, yes Madison
Your light still shines today.
The hope and courage you give to us,
Can ne'r be taken away. (Chorus)

Students Are Chosen Representatives

THE MAHI staff sponsored a contest to choose the boy and the girl who best represented Madison County High School. The contest was originated by the 1967-68 staff in hopes that it would become a tradition at MCHS. Eligibility was based on scholastic achievement, active participation in extra-curricular activities, well-rounded personali-

Ollie Wise Kitchen, this year's SCA President, has been an outstanding student at Madison County High School. His leadership ability has been shown in numerous ways. He has been an active member of the FFA as secretary, vice-president, and president. During the tenth grade, Ollie was tapped into the Beta Club because of his scholastic achievement. He has served as vice-president of his class for two years and as secretary for one year. The football fans will remember Ollie as the 1967 "Mountaineer". His friendliness and consideration have set a good example. Ollie's co-operative attitude has gained the admiration of the students and the respect of the faculty.

ty, and co-operation with students and teachers.

The faculty nominated candidates from all grades whom they considered to possess these qualities. The student body then voted and chose Ollie Kitchen and Carol Weakley, as the first recipients of THE MAHI outstanding students of 1967-68.

Carol Marie Weakley, the 1967 Homecoming Queen, has served Madison County High School in many ways. She has been a member of the Safety Patrol and the newly-formed Classical Club. She served as typist for THE 1968 MAHI. As an office assistant, Carol has had many opportunities to help others. Her smile and warm personality have gained the friendship of both students and teachers.

New Class And Clubs Add To School Life.

MCHS's first honors program was initiated this year under the instruction of Dr. Edgar F. Puryear. The course, The Foundations of American Democracy, was open to 10th, 11th, and 12th grade students recommended by the faculty. The program worked on the basis of independent study groups which met during the regular school day and a two-hour seminar on Friday afternoons. The first semester's work centered around the study of the four "isms": Communism, Fascism, Socialism, and Capitalism. During the second semester, each student was required to conduct a seminar based on the study of one individual who made a significant contribution to American Democracy and to complete an extended term paper on this person. The purpose of the program was to prepare students for the college workload and to help the student acquire the academic discipline necessary.

Phil Brockman and Cy Witherow receive charters for the newly formed Varsity and Classical Clubs.

Billy Tanner was elected State Beta Club Vice-President at the 1967 Beta Convention held in Richmond.

Last July, Bette Buckner and Billy Tanner attended Girls' and Boys' State. During the week, they set up mock governments and learned the principles of democracy.

Students Perform Services And Develop Talents.

Donna Carpenter, Madelyn Mahanes, Kathy Sparkman, and Ann Graves were high salesmen in the annual magazine drive. This drive was sponsored by the SCA in order to obtain water coolers for the school.

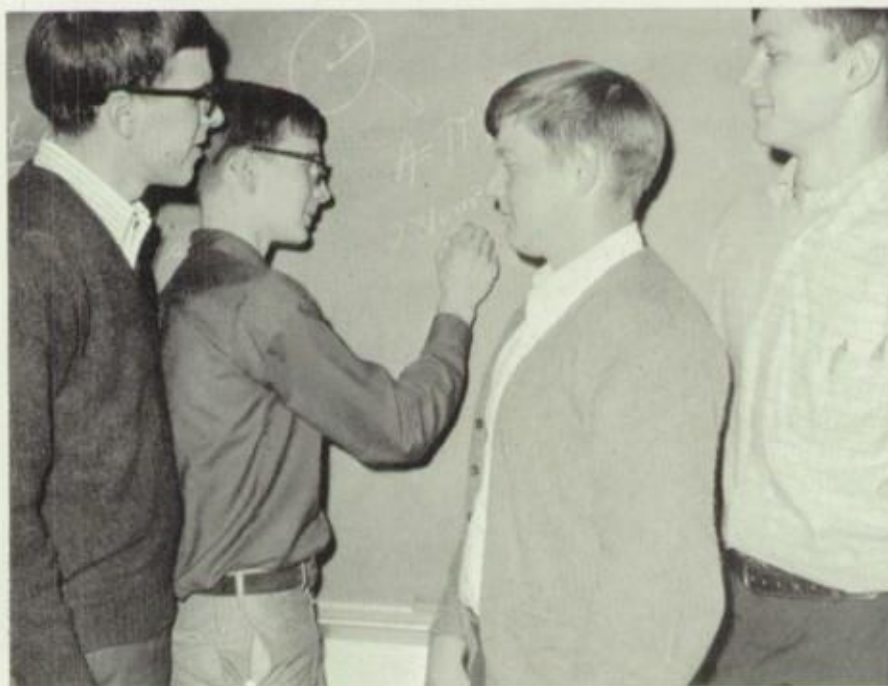

Glenn Hitt and Jesse Garnett display their winning exhibits in the Fall Art Show.

The University of Virginia sponsors a symposium on science technology to encourage interest in the field of science. MCHS was represented by Paul Goodall, Billy White, Walter Tucker, and Walter Geddis.

Nancy Garnett, Nancy Turner, and Emma Tinsley pack clothes donated to the Tri-Hi-Y Clothing Drive. The collected clothing was sent to the Save the Children Federation, which in turn sent the clothing to needy people all over the world.

Powderpuff, Bonfire Provide Extra Sports Activities.

The charming candidates for Powderpuff Queen sweetly smile as they pose for the press. Queen Jim proudly holds his garland of roses.

The Senior Powderpuff team nervously waits to take their position on field.

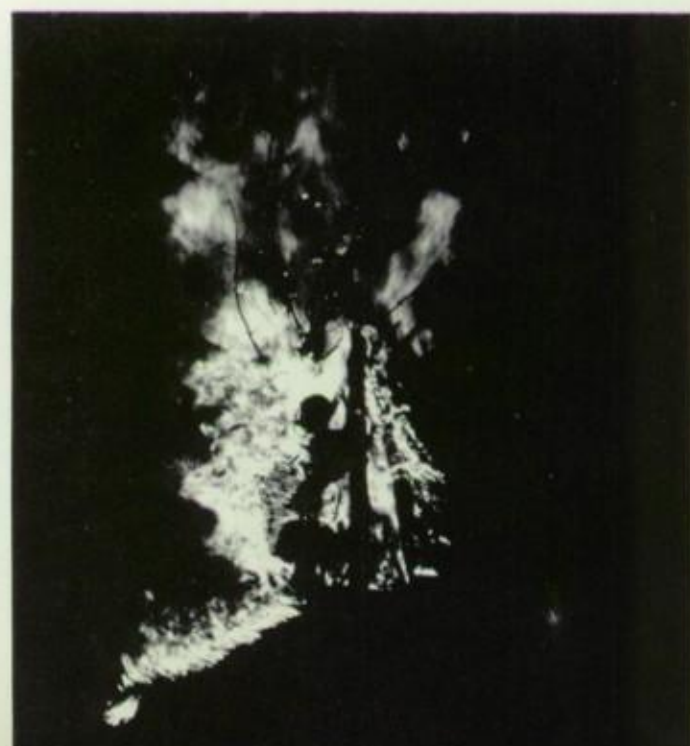

The whistle blows and the battle begins.

Joy Hamm solemnly administers last rites to the Matoaca Warrior before cremation.

This year when the gals took over the gridiron, many students were on hand to watch the action. Rough and ready MCHS females took the field decked out in shoulder pads and helmets. Needless to say, their attire was not exactly flattering! The contest featured a team of jolly juniors matched against a team of mighty seniors, silly sophomores and a few fretful freshmen. The end of the exciting game found the latter ahead 7-6. Some of the local football pros called the girls' efforts "a comedy of errors". However, the girls found their chance to laugh when none other than Jim Ford, All Central Virginia defensive end was crowned Queen at the half-time festivities. He certainly did look alluring in his lace gown. Besides the Queen and "his" court, can you imagine Bernard Beale, Steve Nash, Charlie Strickler, Steve Gibbs and David Blankenbaker doing 1-2-3-4 two bits?

Cheerleaders have bonfire to burn Matoaca warrior in effigy.

Mary Gayle Fishback, Judy Pattie, Mary T. Graves, and Ed Berry enjoy the Beta Banquet.

The Beta Banquet was held on November 18, with Rev. Robert Martin as guest speaker. Rev. Martin spoke about service to one's country.

Winter Events Highlight The Year.

The MCHS Band, under the direction of Mr. Annios, rehearses for their annual winter concert.

The Glee Club sang several selections at the winter concert on December 2, which the Band sponsored. Mrs. Ludewig deserves special recognition for reorganizing the Glee Club this year.

During the school year, the Junior Class worked toward their year-end goal of the Junior-Senior Prom. The Juniors raised money by selling calendar towels and by holding a raffle in which a portable TV was first prize, and a ham and ten gallons of gas were second and third prizes. The Juniors chose "Blue Hawaii" as the theme and "Love Is Blue" as the theme song. Reid Burgess's Band provided the music. This was the first time that the Prom had ever been held in the gym.

Friends, Romans, and Countrymen, lend me your ear.

On Saturday, December 16, the Forensic Club gave a Variety Show. All the clubs were asked to enter. The Forensic Club divided the show into three acts, "The Wild Wild West", "The Roaring Twenties", and the "Hippie Revolution". The show was received enthusiastically by faculty, students, and public. First prize of fifteen dollars was awarded to "The Upsetters", the Dramatics Club entry. Second prize of ten dollars went to Virinda Banks who represented the Tri-Hi-Y. The cheerleaders placed third and received five dollars. Bill Little of WJMA judged the show. Miss Miller, Mrs. Brown, and Mr. Gill deserve special recognition for organizing and helping to produce the Variety Show.

The Forensic Club Sponsors A Variety Show.

Kathy Sparkman, Gayle Trester, Mary T. Graves, and Zella Horseman sing an intoxicating version of "Show Me The Way To Go Home" in one of the "Roaring Twenties" entries.

Gwen Gibbs performs in the "Hippie Revolution" category.

Activities Involve Giving And Receiving.

On December 19, the Beta Club held its annual Christmas party for the Special Education classes at Criglersville. The Betas led games, and everyone sang Christmas carols. While "Here Comes Santa Claus" was being sung, Santa and Mrs. Claus, Walter Tucker and Betty D. Aylor, arrived. Each child sat on Santa's knee and received a present. After all the gifts had been given out, ice cream and punch were served.

Happiness is caring at Christmas.

Is this your natural condition, or are you playing "Simon says"?

"And how many F's have you given this year?"

Navy coach, Bill Elias, spoke at the football banquet where the Most Valuable Players, Phil Brockman, Jim Ford, and John Mallory were honored.

Betty Ann Aylor received the DAR Good Citizen Award.

New Year Brings New Activities And Awards.

Samuel Banks protects the Madison goal in a soccer game against Blue Ridge.

This year a new sport was introduced at MCHS; Mr. Dean and Mr. Faucette organized and coached our first soccer team. The team played several games with Blue Ridge School. The first game ended in a tie of 1 to 1. Madison lost the second game by the score of 2 to 0. On February 15, the team played its first home game and won by a score of 3 to 0.

The Forensic Club, as one of its many activities, hosted the district Forensic Meet the first of April. Schools in the district participated in Girl's and Boy's Public Speaking, Poetry Reading, Prose Reading, and Spelling. The winners of the district contests participated in the State Forensic Meet held at the University of Virginia.

Billy Dixon, Betty D. Aylor, Madelyn Mahanes, and John Kipps were chosen by Mr. Anninos to attend All-District Band in Waynesboro February 2, 3, 4.

Billy Tanner and Paul Goodall received the Outstanding Teenager award and will compete in the state contest.

The FTA sponsored a chicken-oyster dinner, February 9.
